

THE HARTFORD COUNTY BAR ASSOCIATION
ELECTS 2010-2011 PRESIDENT

Hartford, Connecticut – Raymond C. Bliss of West Hartford, Connecticut, an attorney in the Wethersfield law firm of Baker O'Sullivan & Bliss PC, was elected President of the Hartford County Bar Association at its Annual Meeting at The Hartford Club on April 15, 2010. He has held a number of leadership positions within the Association prior to being elected President. Attorney Bliss represents both business and consumer creditors and debtors in his bankruptcy and insolvency practice, which includes negotiating loan workouts and resolving tax liabilities before the Internal Revenue Service. He represents both buyers and sellers in his active transactional practice, and provides counsel to a wide array of business clients. Attorney Bliss serves as a mediator on the HCBA Commercial Law Committee Voluntary Mediation Program for the U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Hartford.

Attorney Bliss joined Baker O'Sullivan & Bliss PC in 1999. He received his J.D. from Catholic University of America in 1984, his M.I.L.R., New York State School of Industrial and Labor Relations at Cornell University in 1978 and his B.A. cum laude, from Williams College in 1976.

The Hartford County Bar Association is a voluntary not-for-profit association of lawyers and judges in Hartford County, dedicated to promoting public service and advancing the principles of law and justice through its more than 2000 members. The Hartford County Bar Association, established in 1783, is reputed to be the oldest continuously operated Bar Association in the country.
