New Laws and Rules Affecting Attorneys and Clients

Program Description

This CLE program will provide an overview of new laws enacted by the Connecticut General Assembly and rules recently adopted by the judges of the Superior Court. It is ideal for solo, small firm and general practitioners.

A panel consisting of a Superior Court judge, a lawyer-legislator and an assistant attorney general will discuss:

- Recent new laws affecting various practice areas such as civil and criminal law, construction, consumer protection, energy and public utility, real estate, environmental, estates and probate, Freedom of Information Act, planning and development, and municipalities.
- The state budget and taxes and spending for state agencies and programs, including the Judicial Branch.
- New Superior Court rules affecting civil practice and procedure.
- What to expect from the General Assembly and state government in 2016 for legislation, policies and regulations affecting civil law, practice and procedure.

The program will provide all attorneys with practical information to remain current and informed about new laws and recent changes to the rules of practice.

Panelists:

Hon. Antonio C. Robaina, Presiding Judge for Civil Matters, Hartford Judicial District

Sen. Paul R. Doyle (D-Wethersfield), Vice Chairman, Judiciary Committee

Robert W. Clark, Special Counsel, Office of the Attorney General, Hartford

Moderator:

Matthew Hallisey, Silvester & Kappes, Hartford; Matthew Hallisey Government Affairs, LLC, Glastonbury
