

Connecticut Community Law Center at UConn Law School

The Connecticut Community Law Center, an initiative of the UConn Law School and the Hartford County Bar Association, is a postgraduate program for recently admitted lawyers that helps them develop sustainable legal practices to help bridge the civil “justice gap” in the Greater Hartford Community.

The program aims to help people who have traditionally been underserved by the justice system: low- and moderate-income clients who don’t qualify for legal aid but can’t afford standard legal fees.

All proceeds from the event will be directed to the UConn Law School Foundation, Inc. to benefit the UConn School of Law Legal Incubator Fund, which provides financial support for the Community Law Center.
